

INTERNATIONAL MARINE LAW REVISION PROBABLE AFTER TITANIC INQUIRY

INADEQUACY OF MARITIME REGULATIONS SHOWN IN TESTIMONY ALREADY BROUGHT OUT.

MUCH TO BE LEARNED

Members of Investigating Committee Certain That Many Days Are Required—Officer Pittman On Stand.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, D. C., April 23.—The committee today, members of the senate investigating committee were convinced that the hearing would require many days. In the opinion of Senator William Alden Smith, the that the temperature was lower, he said, would indicate the proximity of ice. Pittman declared in all his investigation of the sea he had seen only one iceberg.

Frederick Fleet, who was lookout in the crow's nest, of the Titanic, said that on Sunday night some time after 10 o'clock he reported a black mass of ice about the officer on the bridge. Just how long this was before the collision the lookout could not say.
Fleet told the committee there were no lookout glasses in the Titanic's crow's nest after leaving Southampton.
"The life and death struggle of the victims of the Titanic disaster were pictured to the senate investigating committee today by third officer Robert John Pittman, of the sunken liner. Chairman Smith of the committee pressed Pittman regarding the scenes after the sinking of the ship.
"I heard no cries of distress before

FAIL TO AGREE ON POPULAR ELECTION

Resolution Concerning Amendment to Constitution for Election of Senators Falls.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, April 23.—A conference report was made to the senate today announcing the failure of agreement on the resolution looking to a constitutional amendment to provide for popular election of senators. It declared the House proposed to take away from senators all supervisory power over congressional elections. "To deprive congress of the right to say whether a member of either body had been correctly elected," said Senator Clark of Wyoming, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, "is striking at the very root of our legislative department. It is my opinion that the House amendment would preclude congress from making any investigation into the election of a senator. It would leave it entirely in the hands of the states." Senator Clark is one of the states' rights. The report of the failure of agreement after six

Paris, April 23.—The massacre at Fez in which a large number of French officers, soldiers and citizens were killed and wounded, has given rise to considerable criticism of the government authorities for not forestalling and preventing its occurrence. It is pointed out by the newspapers that the French troops occupied the Moroccan capital more than a year ago.

AMERICANS DRIVEN OUT OF VERA CRUZ LAND AT GALVESTON

Large Number of Refugees Flee From Vera Cruz When Threatened With Death.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Galveston, Tex., April 23.—Forty-seven passengers, all but one, citizens of the United States, who arrived this morning from Vera Cruz, on the steamer Texas, told of alleged torture and assassination of Americans in the republic.
All the refugees left their homes, furniture and everything they possessed, except enough money for passage and the clothes on their backs. Among the entire number there are only four or five boys.
Practically every man on board the Texas had a thrilling story to tell of experiences in Mexico. Two men who rode horseback in Vera Cruz after abandoning everything they owned, told of meeting four armed bandits in a narrow pass.
"The only reason we are here," said one of the men, "is because we were lucky enough to beat them to it. Everywhere you go except in the largest cities you will see deserted farms, houses burned, live stock stolen, and in many instances the decayed and headless bodies of their owners are left lying where they fell."
M. H. Ish, one of the refugees, told of the murder of an American citizen named Wolfe.
"Mr. Wolfe was a neighbor to me," said Mr. Ish. "He had sold several head of cattle and hidden the money. A band of desperadoes came to his hacienda and demanded money. Failing to get it they deliberately beheaded him with their machetes, herded his cattle together, and drove them off. There are many instances like this."
"I am sixty-four years old. I went to Mexico one year ago, but I had $1,650 in land and improvements there, and today I have only this," showing his two hands—"and the clothes on my back. Before leaving we had our claims for damages with the American consul in Mexico City."
John T. Meffer, a wealthy planter who went to Mexico two years ago, returned to America minus more than $20,000, and left behind land and live stock. Mr. Meffer tells of alleged cruelty practiced on an American woman now in the hospital at Mexico City.

CUMMINGS PLANNING SURPRISE ON TAFT?

Attitude of Iowa Senator's Force at State Convention Tomorrow is Paramount Question.

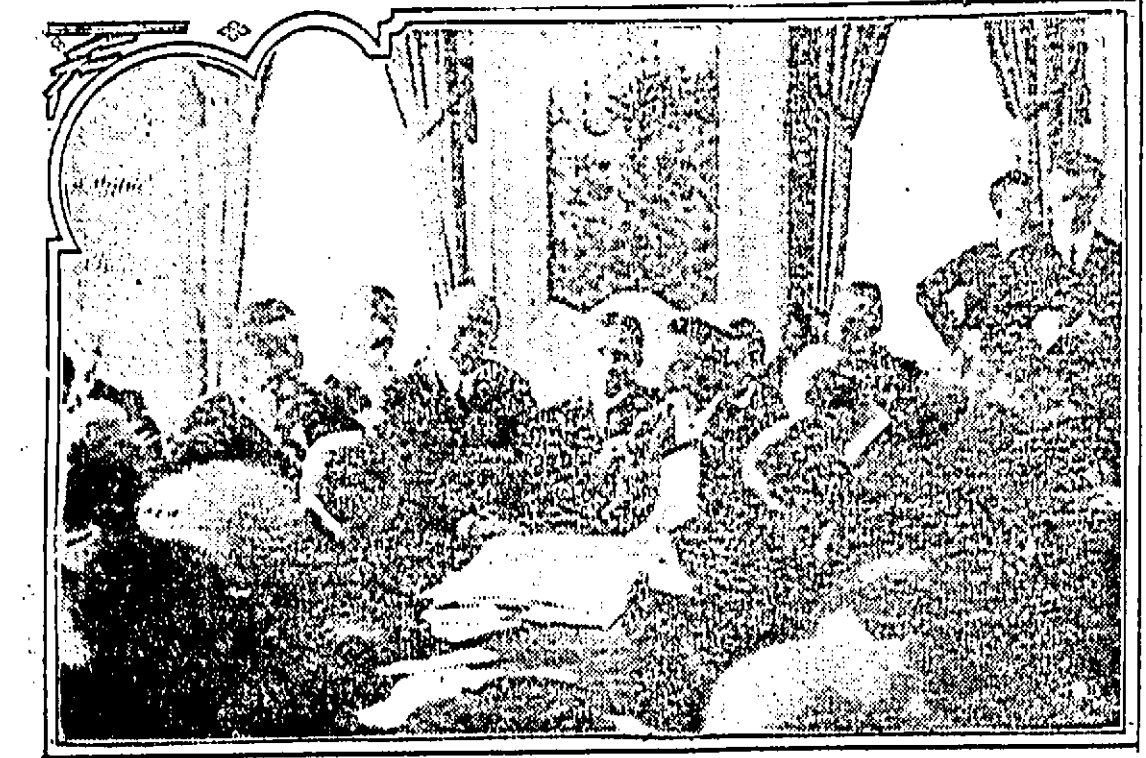

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Cedar Rapids, Iowa, April 23.—Whether Albert B. Cummings will be planning a surprise for the Taft forces in the republican state convention tomorrow is the paramount topic among the delegates early today. The attitude of John H. Briar, Cummings' Iowa campaign manager gave cause for uncertainty. Briar had been in control of the convention but declined to divulge the sources of his support, merely stating that there would be sufficient delegates to turn the convention to the Iowa senator.
John T. Adams, Taft's Iowa manager, was more insistent than ever that he and his friends would organize the convention even to the extent of raising his estimate to 85 majority.

RAILROAD MANAGERS MAY ACCEPT OFFER TO SETTLE STRIKE

Government's Mediation Will Undoubtedly Be Accepted by Both Sides—Engineers Confident.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
New York, April 23.—The offer of mediation from Charles P. Neill, United States labor commissioner, and Judge Arthur A. Knapp of the United States commerce court, which was accepted by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers last night, just as they had declared for a strike as their next move in their campaign for increased wages, came formally before the conference of railway managers today.
That the eleven hour proposal of mediation by officials of the United States government will also be accepted by the managers was the general belief this morning.
Judge Knapp is expected from Washington this afternoon.
"Judge Knapp and Commissioner Neill," said one of the managers, "are of such a high caliber that it would be for the engineers and railways to select an arbitrator and those two to select a third."
The engineers appeared to be delighted with the offer of mediation, declaring that their position with respect to an increased wage is perfectly sound, and if the question was put for arbitration, they were bound to obtain concessions.
Whether the railway would accept the offer of Messrs. Neill and Knapp to act as mediators in the wage controversy with the engineers was discussed at a meeting of the conference committee of the railways which convened this forenoon. Confident announcement of the railway attitude was expected to be made at the conclusion of the conference, probably late this afternoon.

SENATE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE, HEADED BY WILLIAM ALDEN SMITH, CONTINUES PROBE OF THE TITANIC DISASTER

Senate Investigating Committee at Titanic Disaster at Work.
The senatorial investigation of the Titanic disaster continues at Washington, with Senator Smith at the head of the committee. The evidence thus far adduced seems to indicate that Director J. Bruce Ismay, of the White Star line, and Captain Scott, who went down with the ship, were guilty of gross negligence. The committee has been told by passengers that officers of the Titanic had sufficient warning of the proximity of the iceberg to avert the disaster had they wished to sacrifice speed to safety. Chairman Smith declares that Director Ismay will not be permitted to sail for England until the chairman, and many of his colleagues, so much already has been learned from the examination of but a few witnesses that it is incumbent upon them to get all possible information from every person who can enlighten the committee.

"That the facts already disclosed point out inadequacy in marine regulations, they are convinced, and that the whole story when told will form the basis for new maritime laws and lead to international conferences entirely revising ocean steamship transportation, they do not doubt."
Information has come to the senate committee that the authorities of all the great maritime nations of the world are watching the investigation closely.
"Owing to the tremendous crash caused by thousands of persons crushing admission to the inquiry, the hearing was transferred to a smaller room in the senate building and only witnesses and members of the press were admitted."
Third Officer Pittman took the stand and told his experience of some fifteen years on the seas.
"Were you present during the final test of the Titanic?"
"Yes, sir. I was on the bridge most of the time."
The witness said the tests consisted of standing in circles and in performing evolutions and in adjusting the compasses.
"Were there any trials for speed?" he was asked.
"No, sir. I believe they have no such tests on the White Star line."
"Tell the committee the circumstances of the departure of the Titanic from Southampton."
"We left Southampton 12:15 P. M. Wednesday, April 10. Nothing exciting happened except breaking the meetings of the New York, caused by the lack of wash from our starboard porthole. We got clear and proceeded to Cherbourg."
"How long was the delay?"
"About half an hour."
"What was the matter? The weather?"
"Perfect."
"It did good all the way to the place of the collision."
"All the way and no heavy sea."
"Was there a starboard sky?"
"Every night and morning."
Asked to tell his duties when on watch Pittman said he worked out observations, found deviations of the compass. General supervision around the decks and relieve the bridge if necessary.
"The witness said boat drills always were held at Southampton and at Queenstown. The Titanic's drill at Southampton, he said, consisted in lowering and lifting two boats."
The witness said it was customary aboard ship to have boat and fire drills every Sunday. In the Southampton drill Pittman said that approximately eight men in each boat.
"Did you hear anything about a wireless message about icebergs?"
"Yes, I did. Either Saturday night or Sunday morning, when Mr. Roskill put it on the chart," Pittman replied.
Asked if he saw any ice on Sunday Pittman said he did not. The fact

NAME TWO WORKING DISTRICT FOREMEN

Daniel Wilkins and Thomas McChesney were today appointed by Superintendent of Streets C. K. Millicore to the position of working district foremen at a salary of $2.50 a day. The appointments were confirmed by the council at its adjourned meeting this afternoon. Mr. Wilkins will have for his district the part of the city lying east of the river, and Thomas McChesney the west side. Both will be under the direction of Superintendent Millicore and will be constantly employed. The council intends to have them devote a portion of their time to inspection of street work done for the city under contract.
Several lot owners were directed to build standard sidewalks in front of their property. The resolution of the Common Council passed in June 1899, specifying the composition of the Board of Public Works in 1901, and a resolution was passed directing that the Street Assessment Committee shall be composed of the Mayor, the City Engineer and the chairman of the Committee on Highways. The Superintendent of Streets was ordered to purchase a single wagon and harness for the use of the city.
Adjournment was taken until Thursday afternoon as Mayor Pathe goes to Madison tomorrow on city business before the Tax Commission and other state boards. Following adjournment the members of the Council, Mayor Pathe, and the City Engineer made a visit to the plant of the Jamesville Sand & Gravel Company to inspect material. The city contemplates using crushed gravel for the improvement of Washington street.

NEW OIL COMPANY TO OPERATE HERE

Cement foundations for four or five oil tanks to be used to supply the trade in this city are being built on the lot on Western avenue, next to the arch of the Northwestern Railway company, for the South Paint and Oil company of Rockford, Ill. Mr. Kinloch, who will be manager of the business in this city, was here today to confer with the contractor regarding the work, and plan for the opening of business May 1 or 5. The company is an independent organization, and the business in this city will be conducted under Mr. Kinloch's name. The business will be entirely wholesale, dealing with the local dealers and garage men.

LARGE FIRE LOSSES DUE TO LIGHTNING

Burlington, Janesville and La Crosse Have Had Fires From This Cause—March Fire Loss.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., April 23.—Reports of many losses from lightning are coming to the office of the state fire marshal. Several were unusually disastrous. A Burlington mill being destroyed with a loss of $100,000, a Janesville plant burning with heavy damage, and a church of La Crosse county laid waste. State Fire Marshal Parshall sent out a bulletin warning against lightning dangers last March, and advising the use of lightning rods, especially on churches and farm buildings. Several newspapers made fun of his efforts in this direction at a time so early in the year, but he is now pointing to the growing list of lightning losses in the state during April to justify his precautionary action.
The March Fire Loss.
The March fire loss, according to State Fire Marshal T. M. Parshall's monthly report, The insurance carried on risks totalled $422,355. Defective chimneys led the field of causes by a big margin, there being thirty-nine chimney sparks being second with 12. Thirty fires were of unknown causes. The department made nearly 400 inspections during the month and secured many corrections of conditions upon oral requests. Several trials for arson were conducted during the month.

RESIGNATION GIVEN TO GOVERNOR TODAY

GRANT U. FISHER RESIGNS AS MEMBER OF STATE BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

SHOULD NAME WOMAN

Places Governor in Peculiar Position With Women of the State If He Refuses.

After nine years' service as member of the Wisconsin State Board of Agriculture, the majority of which period he has also been a member of the Wisconsin Live Stock Sanitary Board, Grant U. Fisher of this city today sent to Governor McGovern his resignation and in so doing suggests that the Governor appoint a woman member of the board to succeed himself.

Mr. Fisher is in Madison today to attend the last session of the Wisconsin Live Stock Sanitary Board which he will be present at as a member. It is intimated that his resignation, which was handed the Governor this morning, was due to the fact that the board will consider and possibly act upon matters which will not reflect upon McGovern's attitude relative to certain matters which may later become a question of federal investigation.

Mr. Fisher has been one of the men who have been most active in the work of developing the tuberculosis test of cattle throughout the state and the rigid enforcement of the state laws relative to the work of stamping out this disease in the Wisconsin herds. He has been a most valuable member of the Live Stock Sanitary Board and will be sadly missed by that organization.

During his term as a member of the State Board of Agriculture he has served as superintendent of the fair grounds at Milwaukee and also as marshal, having had as his assistants many Janesville and Rock county men during his nine years of membership. President Huey of the Board has been most anxious for Mr. Fisher to continue as a member and the Board re-elected him marshal for the 1912 fair and also placed him as chairman on the very important committee having charge of the construction of the new grand stand work upon which work will be started shortly.

His resignation to Governor McGovern is as follows:

"Honorable Francis E. McGovern, Governor of Wisconsin.

My dear sir:—
"Having served as member of the Wisconsin State Board of Agriculture for nine years, one term under Governor La Follette, and two terms under Governor Davidson, and for a like period having served as member of the Wisconsin Live Stock Sanitary Board, representing on its membership the first mentioned board, striving at all times to do my full duty without fear or favor and knowing as I do at this time that the women of the state wish to be represented on the board of agriculture and feeling that my resignation will strengthen your own political aspirations and relieve you of the embarrassment of having to decline to further honor me, I very respectfully tender to your Excellency my resignation to take effect April 24, 1912."

It is also intimated that Mr. Fisher is also not in accord with the

A HAPPY, LAUGHING CHILD IN FEW HOURS

If Cross, Irritable, Fervish, Tongue Coated and Sick, Give Delicious "Syrup of Figs."

Your child isn't naturally cross, irritable and peevish, Mother! Examine the tongue; if coated, it means the little ones' stomach is disordered. Liver inactive and its thirty feet of bowels clogged with foul, decaying waste.

Every mother realizes after giving delicious "Syrup of Figs" that this is the ideal laxative and physic for children. Nothing else regulates the little one's tender stomach, liver and bowels so effectively, besides they dearly love its delightful taste.

For constipated bowels, sluggish liver, biliousness, or sour disordered stomach, feverishness, diarrhoea, sore throat, bad breath or to break a cold, give one-half to a teaspoonful of "Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged up waste, sour, bile, undigested food and constipated matter will gently move on and out of the system without griping or nausea, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drugging your children, being composed entirely of delicious figs, senna and aromatic it cannot be harmful. Full directions for children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the delicious, pleasing, genuine old reliable. Refuse anything else offered.

administration plans for rushing through certain legislation at the coming session of the legislature called in extra session. He has signified to the Governor he would favor an adjournment immediately that the call might be made so that the legislature might consider a possible repeal of the income tax law and readjustment of other measures passed by the last legislature which are obnoxious to the business interests of the state.

It is certain that at the special session Mr. Fisher, with other members will seek to bring these matters up and at least discuss them in the resolution for adjournment which, it is understood, will be made immediately upon convening, will play an important part in seeking to have certain laws amended and also to have the taxpayers of the state the necessity of the long drawn out period to follow the calling of the legislature together.

It has also been intimated that Mr. Fisher's resignation will be followed by others of the board who are not in sympathy with the administration policy, two members said to be considering the question being most important advances to the success of the coming fair.

Accepts Resignation.
Madison, April 23.—Gov. McGovern today made the following appointments to the state board of agriculture, after accepting Mr. Fisher's resignation:

Danforth W. Larkin, Sturgeon Bay; Assemblyman Henry E. Krueger, Beaver Dam; George C. Kuntz, Milwaukee; and Mrs. Ada F. Howie, Elm Grove, member at large. Mrs. Howie is the first woman to receive the honor of an appointment to the state board.

Mr. Larkin succeeds Charles F. Meyer, Oconto Falls and Mrs. Howie succeeds Grant U. Fisher of Janesville.

Owing to the new apportionment George McKorow of Milwaukee and J. J. Nelson of Amherst, whose terms also expired, are in districts other than those in which Mr. Krueger and Mr. Kuntz reside.

WOMEN'S CLUBS WILL HELP CLEAN UP CITY

Delegates From Seven Organizations Met Today To Hear Health Officer Cunningham Outline Plans.

Janesville Women's Clubs are to lend their assistance in the general clean-up of the city to be held on the first, second, and third days of May. Delegates from seven different women's clubs met this afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. F. Woods, 69 South Main street, and Health Officer Dr. M. A. Cunningham, on their invitation, outlined his plans for doing the work and offered suggestions as to the ways in which they could help. He was given an attentive hearing and promised hearty support.

The clubs represented at the meeting and their delegates were: Women's History Club, Miss Mable Shumway; Athlete Club, Miss Cornelia Reddy; Twentieth Century Club, Mrs. Fred Sheldon; D. A. B., Mrs. John Rexford; Philomatheans, Mrs. C. V. Korch; Eastern Star, Mrs. Fred Strickler; Art League, Mrs. E. F. Woods. These delegates will form a permanent committee on civic improvement, acting in common for all the women's clubs. A permanent organization was formed and a president and secretary elected at the meeting this afternoon.

The local Anti-Tuberculosis Association, at its meeting last evening, in the office of Mayor Pathers' at the city hall, took the first steps toward the organization of its forces for the clean-up days. The city was divided into sections following the ward lines and a superintendent appointed for each one. These in turn were directed to appoint five assistants, each having a division of the ward entrusted to his or her care. Miss Cora V. Huddy, 317 Madison St., was named superintendent in the First Ward; Miss Julia Warren, 217 Cornell street, in the Second; Miss Sophia D. Howditch, 843 Milwaukee Avenue, in the Third; and Miss Lenora E. Crawford, 527 North Terrace street, in the Fifth. The Superintendent of the Fourth ward has not yet been appointed. Campaign plans will be further elaborated at a meeting of the ward superintendents in the assembly room at the city hall at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Mayor Pathers will within a day or two, issue a proclamation officially designating May 1, 2 and 3 as general clean-up days, or to be more specific, Anti-Debris, Anti-Fire, and Anti-Disease days. All lot owners and occupiers are urged to begin cleaning up the earliest possible date and have the garbage, debris, and unsanitary material piled up at the curb for hauling away on the designated clean-up days. Final arrangements for hauling away the rubbish have not yet been made but it is expected that they will be of an entirely satisfactory nature.

WILL TRY OUT NEW TYPE OF ENGINE HEADLIGHT

St. Paul Has Put One of New Dresser Headlights on Engine 738 for Use on Train Tonight.

One of the new Dresser headlights for locomotives, recommended by the Interstate Commerce Commission for use on the railroads, will be given a tryout by the St. Paul railroad tonight. One of the headlights has been placed on engine 738, which will take train No. 7 west on the Mineral Point division tonight, with Conductor T. A. Leahy and Engineer Thomas Fox in charge of the train.

The new type of headlight, which is said to be far ahead of the old style lights in efficiency, will throw a light eight hundred feet, it is said. It is equipped with a heavy wick and reflector different from those now in use. The power of the light, however, lies in the bulky lens, which takes the place of the glass in the ordinary light. A shield is provided for the new headlight when it is not in use.

OLD AFTON RESIDENT IS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Pamela S. Treat Passed Away at Her Daughter's Home Shortly After Midnight Last Night.

Mrs. Pamela S. Treat, for nearly fifty years a resident of Afton, passed away at half past twelve o'clock this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George C. Antebel. Mrs. Treat had been in poor health since last November but had been confined to her bed for only the past four or six weeks.

Mrs. Treat was born in Jefferson county, New York, April 8, 1828. She was married to Hiram E. Treat at the same place in 1857 and together they came west a short time later. They located at Janesville where they lived for about a year when they removed to St. Anthony. In 1863 they moved to Afton where she has since resided. After her husband's death in 1878 she made her home with her father, the late George Sims, and since his death she has lived with her daughter, Mrs. George C. Antebel.

Besides her daughter, she leaves one son, George L. Treat of Alexandria, Minn.; also two brothers, Erwin W. Sims of Bristol, Okla., and Lorenzo G. Sims of Minneapolis.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at half past two o'clock from the Baptist church at Afton. A Madison clergyman will officiate. Interment will be made in the Afton cemetery.

Plucky Are the Women.

Are women, as a general proposition, bad losers? It is they who bear in the end the losses which the masculine speculator accepts with such outward cheerfulness. Women in countless instances see the man they have sworn to love, honor and cherish fall by the wayside, yet they stick to him. They see the family fortune swept away by some imprudence not their own, but of which they suffer the pinching consequences. They endure pain, disease, the loss of children, the blasting of social ambitions, as few men can endure such inequalities of fortune, and indeed play a losing game with a fortitude that commands masculine respect.—New York World.

Ever Noticed This?
However, it is to be noted that the man who thinks he knows it all, only thinks it. He doesn't know it.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Clara Anderson.

(Special to this Gazette.)
Milton, April 23.—The funeral services of the late Mrs. Clara Anderson were held today at 2:30 p. m. from the house and were conducted by Rev. M. A. Drew. The sons, J. H. Anderson, of Minneapolis, and W. B. Anderson, of Lake Mills, and the daughter, Mrs. G. H. Cutting of Los Angeles, Cal., were in attendance.

Wm. B. Meggott.
The funeral of the late Wm. B. Meggott of Evansville was held at the home on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, the Rev. D. Q. Grall officiating. Interment was at the Evansville cemetery. The large attendance and many flowers spoke of the respect and sympathy of the community.

The pallbearers were: Robert Hurley, Geo. Pullen, Harvey Walton, M. L. Paulson, V. A. Astell, and Fred Franklin.

Among those from out of town who attended were his mother and sister of this city, and aunt, Mrs. K. B. Walker, Chicago; Miss Lucy Walker, and P. G. Jordan, Milton; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vale, Milton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn and three sons, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Taylor, Mrs. Maude Taylor, E. T. Fish, Ella and Maude Niquin, Mrs. Peter Dullin, Mrs. David Drummond, and Fred Tall, all of this city.

To Keep Dust Out.

When there are no slits under the doors dust will find a way to enter the closet and settle upon one's "best clothes." To prevent this, get weather stripping with a felt edge (not rubber) and fasten it to the bottom of the door on the inside. The felt should just touch the floor.

COUNCIL TO SECURE OUTFIT FOR SEALER

Gave Hearing to Representative of Fairbanks-Morse Company Yesterday—State Must Approve.

In pursuance of their intention to make a careful investigation of prices before purchasing an outfit for Sealer of Wildlife and Measures Frank M. Kennedy, the council at its meeting yesterday afternoon gave a hearing to Mr. Williams, representing the Fairbanks-Morse company. In response to their inquiries he said that the outfit sold by his company to every city in Wisconsin to date cost $218.52. He also told what made up the outfit and explained the provisions of the state law prescribing the outfit of sealer.

The sealer's equipment, when ordered, is to be sent directly from the factory to the office of the state inspector of wildlife and measures at Madison. There it will be given a thorough test to insure its accuracy, and this ascertained, the outfit will be forwarded to the city sealer.

The first duty will be to test in person every weight and measure used in the stores or in the measuring of commodities for sale. If they are accurate he will place his seal upon them, if inaccurate he will order them repaired or confiscated and destroyed.

The sealer will be expected to make additional inspections, no less thorough, to make sure that the scales and measures are kept in condition and not tampered with. Merchants buying new scales must have them tested by the sealer before using them. Another way of conducting inspections which the sealer will be expected to exercise at this, will be to buy specified quantities of a commodity and measure or weigh it to determine whether he is receiving net weight.

MISS HANNIGAN TO WED JOSEPH WEBER

Well Known Janesville Young People Will Be Married Tomorrow Morning at St. Patrick's Church.

With the celebration of nuptial rites by the Rev. Dean E. E. Kelly, Miss Marie E. Hannigan and Joseph J. Weber, young people well known in this city, will be united in marriage at St. Patrick's church tomorrow morning. The ceremony will be performed at nine o'clock in the presence of a large company of friends and relatives. Attending the bride couple will be Miss Elizabeth Hannigan of Chicago, a sister of the bride-to-be, and Edward Heider of this city; and Miss Anna Weber, a sister of the groom, and William Fay of Chicago. The male choir of St. Mary's church will sing at the services. After the ceremony a wedding reception will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Boos, 456 Chatham street.

The bride-to-be is a popular member of the younger social set, and has a legion of friends in the city. The groom is an enterprising young business man, employed by the Janesville Clothing company, and is a gifted singer, a member of St. Mary's male choir.

WINTER GRAIN KILLED BY WEATHER FOLLOWING THE NOVEMBER CYCLONE.

Theory is Advanced That Severe Sand Storm Nov. 12th Last Killed Much Wheat and Rye.

One plausible theory which is advanced for the large amount of winter grain which was killed during the past winter, is the havoc wrought by the sand and dust storm which followed the cyclone last November.

After the heavy rain on November 11, the ground froze and the high winds swept clouds of sand and dust across the field certainly with considerable damage to vegetation. This condition existed throughout the whole county and reports indicate that the entire county has had the larger percentage of the winter grain killed during the winter. It is said to have been running at high speed. Police- man Fanning was called to the scene but did not learn who owned the dog.

MISS JULIA LATHROP IN STRONG ADDRESS

ARGUMENTS AGAINST SUFFRAGE ANSWERED.

SUFFRAGE AND JUSTICE

Large Audience Fills Presbyterian Church—Local Organization Active.

Equal suffrage for men and women was discussed last evening at the Presbyterian church by Miss Julia Lathrop, of national reputation as a reformer and settlement worker. In one of the strongest addresses on the subject which has ever been delivered in this city, the church was filled to the last seat with a mixed audience of men and women who entered into the discussion for which the meeting was thrown over at the conclusion of the address of the evening.

From beginning to end the subject was treated by the speaker in a manner which showed great insight into the conditions and movements which are prevalent in this country today. Every argument seemed more practical and more convincing than the last and the most hostile mind could not help but acknowledge the truth and force of her statements. The main thought which ran through Miss Lathrop's speech was that the women of today had advanced to a degree of equality with the men which demanded recognition, and that this recognition would be granted them without a revolution or other great disturbance, in part she spoke as follows:

"In speaking of the suffrage question we admit that it is an expedient for both men and women. But there have been objections raised. Among these is the one that the granting of suffrage to the women would allow the ignorant vote to be just doubled what it is now. But in order to answer this argument we must find which of the many definitions of the ignorant vote is correct.

Suffragettes in the higher circles of society regard the foreign population who are only beginning to get an American education as the ignorant voters. On the other hand the factory and shop girls consider that they who have had to face the ups and downs of life in winning their way are more competent to vote on the problems of government than the 'upper fifth' of the population. Each layer of society has a different idea of the ignorant vote.

"Moreover it must be granted that women are as keen as men as to what could be done by means of the vote. Work among the settlement districts in the big cities has shown that the women are ready and willing to learn the things taught by the settlement workers in regard to sanitation and other improvements. When the women learn that by the vote they could remove the dirt from the main streets and make their homes capable of being made sanitary they are as eager for it as the most ardent suffragette from the educated strata of society. In fact, the women of the poorer sections have shown surprising improvement under the stimulation which has been given them in the last few years.

"These women also enjoy a happier education than the men who come to this country and enter into the rotten politics without the least knowledge of right or wrong in the matter. From observation at the polls in the cities it becomes evident that the danger comes not from the vote of the ignorant foreigner, but from the shrewd, often well-educated politician who instructs the ignorant.

"In short, the argument of the ignorant vote makes one blush for the conditions in the country, and is setting great minds to work on the solution of the problem. Schools are the great solvent of this problem and a comparison of those of twenty-five years ago with those of today is an inspiration in itself.

"New means are being employed today on every hand to overcome the argument of the ignorant vote. Lectures illustrated with slides and maps prove a great attraction among the foreigners and bring home to them methods of sanitation and improvement in different ways which has a strong effect. And through all these activities the hand of the woman is always prominent and is always evident.

"In answering the argument that the granting of the ballot to women would amount to a revolution in the status of women during the past ages and their manner of accomplishment must be considered. Throughout the history of mankind, woman has gradually evolved from the slave state, almost unnoticed, so slow has been the process, until today she has reached a plane where she has been attained before, a plane where the ballot has become a right. Women now bring up the men who ran the country and conduct the school systems, which are the chief part of municipal governments. Great and important legislation has been passed through the efforts of the women. So let the argument of women's understanding be advanced.

"If women could vote they would no longer be the irresponsible critics which they now are, but would have an intelligence in public affairs and a better appreciation of difficulties in their prosecution. Great institutions have been put back by the carelessness of men who have not exhausted into the questions sufficiently.

"Men and women work together better now than they ever have before and the ballot should be granted to those who are already well informed and active. Women suffer as much or more than the men during war and yet they have nothing to say concerning it.

"After all is said and done the discussion comes back to the simple matter of justice. Where the women, who form a large part of the population of the country, are greatly benefited, the country as a whole is bound to feel the effects.

TODAY'S EVANSVILLE NEWS

Evansville, April 23.—The A. Juniors of the Y. M. C. A. went on a hike Saturday morning taking a picnic dinner along. After playing ball and various other games they started homeward and arrived at the Y. M. C. A. hall at 2:30 p. m. Thirty-five boys reported a fine time and are looking forward to other events of the same nature.

Conrad Hoffman gave a very interesting talk to the boys and young men Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. W. E. Green, Miss Nina Hubbard, Mrs. Nellie McMullen, Mrs. Mary Shaw, Mrs. Mae Evans and Mrs. Alice Spencer from the Afternoon Club and Mrs. T. C. Richardson and Mrs. O. C. Colony from the Literary Club went to Whitewater Monday as delegates to the meeting of the District Federation of Women's Clubs.

A large company of relatives and friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect to the late W. G. Meggott Sunday afternoon. The Rev. D. Q. Grubb conducted the funeral services, and a long line of carriages followed the remains to their last resting place in Maple Hill cemetery. The floral offerings were many and most beautiful.

The following Evansville people went to Madison Saturday to hear the famous London Symphony orchestra, and all report an evening of rare enjoyment.

Miss Elmore Andrews, Miss Anna Boyce, musical director at the Seminary, Mrs. C. A. Smith and daughter, Miss Neva, Mrs. Henry and daughter, Miss Ruth, Miss Lou Howard, Miss Thelma Clark, Everett Combs, Mrs. Alex Richardson, Mrs. Marjorie Wallace, Prof. Wadell, Miss Marion Ames, Miss Mae Phillips and Miss Louise Greenman.

Mrs. Chas. Lowery is sick with sore throat.

Mrs. Weidling of Broadhead, came up Friday to hear the Holist Glen Clue and stayed over until Monday to visit her friend, Miss Lela Smith.

Willie Scarles and Matt Ellis received word Monday morning that their boat house at their camp on Lake Kaponia has been blown over and J. Ellis took the map by auto this morning.

be the child's age, and as the women will have the bringing up of the children in their charge they should be given full right to take their part in matters which will concern the child. "Every age during history has had a different idea of justice and as each has passed it has added a little more to the height of the ideals. Some justice can be seen and recognized as the work of every era and we can only add our little share."

At the conclusion of the address Miss Lathrop urged the men and women present to come to the assistance of the Rock County Political Equality League in its work and help pass the question which is to be voted on next fall.

An president of the league, Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy was called upon to give a description of the organization, methods and purposes of the local society. She told of the determination of the league to make themselves acquainted with every side of the suffrage question and of its efforts in this direction. Literature had been collected from every source and lecturers have been secured whenever possible. She explained that this was not a suffragette league, but a political equality league for both men and women.

Discussion, with questions and answers on the part of those present, ended the meeting, and many people brought up arguments which they regarded as strong, both for and against suffrage.

Buy Only Harness That You Know Is Right

Your very life depends upon the quality of the harness you buy. You must know that it's right in every respect. You can't afford to have it break at some critical moment and perhaps cause a dangerous runaway.

You're perfectly safe in buying harness at this shop. There are harnesses in use around here today that were sold from this shop years ago.

Another feature that should commend this shop to you is the fact that we make our own harness and sell them direct to you, thereby saving you the middleman's profit.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM VICIOUS BULL

Man Employed by Wilbur Andrew at Cainville Center in Serious Affray With Frenzied Animal.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Cainville Center, April 22.—Sunday morning while Wilbur Andrew's hired man was doing the chores he was in the barnyard, where the cattle were, and was attacked by a vicious bull. The animal had him down, but Mr. Andrew happened to be in the barn and heard the cry of the unfortunate man. He grabbed a fork and ran out and rescued him from what might have been a serious affair.

Miss Eva Thompson very pleasantly entertained a company of her young friends Saturday afternoon. About twenty-five were present, the occasion being her thirteenth birthday. Luncheon was served and the hostess was the recipient of many pretty reminders of the event.

Mrs. B. T. Andrew of Dayton was an over Sunday visitor with relatives here.

Cats and Witchcraft.

It may be said that cats have for centuries been associated with Satan and witchcraft. Whereas in countries where wolves abounded men and women with the aid of the devil could turn themselves into wolves—it is well known that the inhabitants of Ossory, Ireland, became wolves once in seven years—the Italian women usually became cats. It is also true that when the black death ravaged Europe learned men attributed the displeasure of the Almighty to the introduction of boots with pointed toes, which were supposed to be peculiarly offensive to the Lord.

"I can snake 'em out 'most every time if I have the right kind of tackle," said a fisherman friend to us the other day.

No use talking, tackle is important; and, just the same as with everything else, there's a right place to buy it.

We believe our kind of tackle is surely the right kind; and if our prices and ways of selling don't prove that this is the right place to buy, your money is yours again in a minute.

ELGIN BUTTER FIRM AT THIRTY-ONE CENTS TODAY.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Elgin, Ill., April 23.—Elgin butter firm, 31 cents.

MANY VEGETABLES ARE LOWER TODAY

More Apples Make Their Appearance and Butter Takes Drop of One Cent.

Most of the change noticed on the local markets today is a drop in the price of a number of the vegetables. Many of them are several cents lower, or only one or two advancing any in price. Turnips at 10c a bunch had a good sale today, being offered by some of the dealers for the first time for a week or so.

Ben Davis apples are among the new products on the show tables selling at 5c a pound, while black twigs are also offered for the first time for 7c a pound. Winosaps of fancy quality are still selling at 5c each.

Butter followed the Elgin quotations and dropped a cent, being now 35c. Dairy is now 20c to 32c. Today's markets are as follows:

Vegetables.
Asparagus—10c.

WAUSAU MAN RESIGNS FROM STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.
Dr. L. E. Spencer Takes Step in Order to Become State Sanitary Inspector.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., April 23.—Dr. L. E. Spencer of Wausau has sent his resignation from the state board of health to Gov. McGovern, who has not yet accepted it. Dr. Spencer took this step to permit him to accept the appointment of the newly created position of state sanitary inspector. This official will undertake complete investigations of sources of sickness, infectious or contagious disease, water supplies, sewage disposal systems, the sanitary condition of public buildings, jails, schoolhouses, hotels, etc., throughout the state. He will make investigations concerning the prevalence of tuberculosis in any locality. His compensation, will, be fixed by the state board of health.

STATE BUILDING CODE IS ADVOCATED FOR STATE.

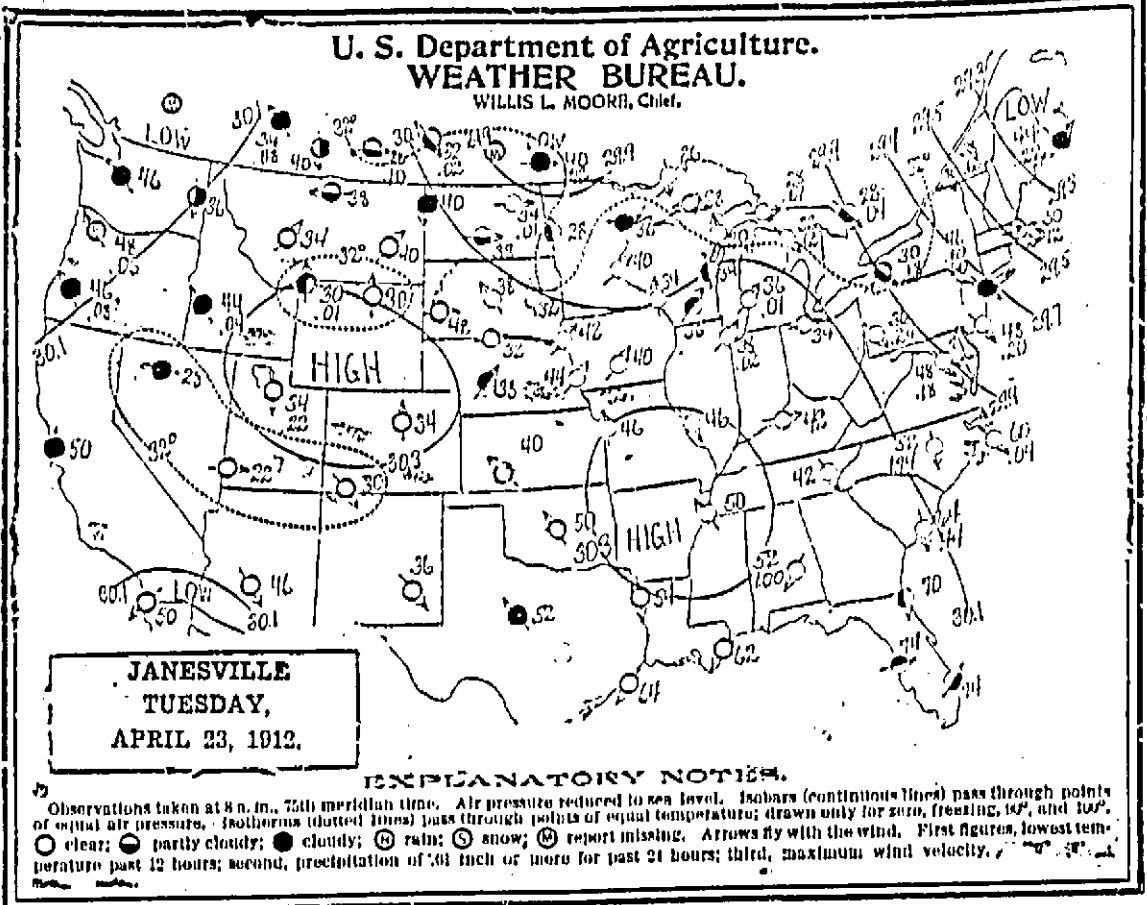

Agitation to Bring About Action at Next Legislature is Now Being Made.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., April 23.—That a state building code will be advocated in the next legislature of Wisconsin is regarded as a certainty. One of the assistants of the state industrial commission is gathering data of conditions in factory and other buildings throughout the state which will form the basis of a bill to be drawn for submission to the lawmakers. In testimony given by witnesses before the legislative fire insurance investigating committee at Milwaukee last week, the necessity of a state building code was pointed out.

Ohio was the pioneer in the adoption of a state building code. When fully completed, Ohio's code will regulate in very detail the construction, repair and alteration of and additions to public, quasi-public and other buildings as well as the sanitary conditions; will provide for fire prevention and fire protection; construction of elevators, stairways, fire escapes, heating and ventilating apparatus, gas fittings, electrical work, strength of materials, storing and handling of oils, explosives, rubbish, etc.

To Attend Red Cross Conference.
Berlin, April 23.—The German delegation to the International Red Cross Conference which is to meet in Washington next month departed today for the United States. The delegation includes Baron von Puhl, president of the German branch of the Red Cross and a distinguished cavalry general; K. L. Bernheimer, a member of the export commission of the German Red Cross Society, and founder of the Red Cross training school for girls at Hohenzollern.

A Permanent Benefit.
J. L. Southern, Clerk Eau Claire House, Eau Claire, Wis., reiterates his statement that Foley Kidney Pills cured him. He says: "Several years ago I wrote you of my remarkable cure by the use of Foley Kidney Pills. One of the worst features of my trouble was sleeplessness. Now to show the lasting benefit of Foley Kidney Pills, after all this time I have had no return of the kidney trouble and I sleep soundly. I have recommended Foley Kidney Pills to lots of people who repeat the great good they do them." Badger Drug Co.

April 23, 1912.—The storm in the east has moved to the lower St. Lawrence, but its influence extends westward to the Lake Region, and southward to the Middle Atlantic states. Rain continued falling in the lower Lake Region and along the Atlantic coast, the heaviest being 1.00 inch at Montgomery, and 1.94 inches at Hialeah, Ga. also attended this disturbance in its passing the Atlantic Coast. A maximum velocity of 60 miles per hour is reported to have occurred at New York.

An area of low barometer in Ontario and Manitoba is the source of warm weather on the northern Plains and local showers in this vicinity and occur in low places in the morning.

Not Loaded.
Mrs. Wiso—"Will you come home straight from the club tonight?" Mr. Wiso—"You mean to come, straight home." Mrs. Wiso—"No, I mean to come home straight—no zigzag walk."—"Exchange."

Mrs. A. A. Swengel, Krok, Wis., invariably uses Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for coughs and colds. "I always use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for my children as I know it will cure their coughs and colds and they like to take it," Badger Drug Co.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

The Question of Saving Money

AN article has been going the rounds of the press about a couple who raised three children and saved money on a salary of ten dollars a week. And the article concluded with the statement that young men earning fifteen dollars a week needn't be afraid to get married.

Perhaps many of us know such instances. In a small country town is a man who earns ten dollars a week, and yet he and his wife have raised three children and bought their own home on this meagre salary. The children were always neatly and cleanly dressed, and both in this instance and in the case described in the newspapers went to school until they were sixteen or seventeen years of age.

But such cases are rare. The husband and wife are themselves exceptional. That is, though he may have no great ability that would enable him to earn more money, they both have good habits; the woman understands the fine art of housekeeping, so that she makes every penny secure its utmost value in the way of wearing quality in clothes and nourishment in food; and he, though his life is monotonous, evidently does his work in such a way as to hold his job. It's a grind for both of them, and a constant fight with many odds against them. And not everyone is willing to make such a fight.

But almost everyone will commend them for saving, when they have so little and the outlook is so unpromising. In circumstances like these a person should make a desperate attempt to save. The business girl who earns but a meagre salary should first of all try to save a little every week, if it is only ten cents. This is the part of wisdom. She should next try to improve herself in some way so that she can earn more. These two things should be her first endeavor, before she thinks of pleasure or pretty clothes. It is hard to do it. But she needs these as a foundation to stand on to raise herself to something better.

But when a person is earning enough to live on, with a fair amount over, how much of this shall he save?

This is a question that has received many different answers. Some people think that because they are earning a good salary they don't need to save anything. They believe since they can earn now, they will always be able to earn. And so they go in for having a good time. Others think that now while they can earn, they should save all possible. And they deny themselves everything to put money in the bank in either course wise?

Without doubt, a certain amount should be saved. But also, if possible, everyone should have a certain amount of pleasure. It is as necessary as food. And the person who denies himself everything to buy a home or provide for his old age is not getting the best out of life.

Life is meant to be enjoyed, not to be wasted or dissipated, or anything like that; but there are normal pleasures one should have. If one can save a fair amount and yet take these normal pleasures, he should do so. He will be able to work longer for the doing of it. And his old age will be the healthier.

The person who denies himself everything, who becomes penurious and miserly, for the sake of owning a home, or building up a large bank account, will injure his health, and in other ways make himself incapable of enjoying his savings when the years come in which he expects to enjoy them. He will have limited his vision for so long that when the time comes when he thinks he will have the opportunity to see, he will find he is incapable of clear, strong sight.

No, while in some cases it is absolutely necessary to save at the sacrifice of all else, and in all cases one should save something, when circumstances do arrive in which one can save and at the same time take some pleasure, it is good sense to take a fair amount of pleasure as life goes along. Travel, music, books, pictures—whatever it is one delights in—the most—should be enjoyed as far as the purse will permit. One should not see the sun of life declining without having given himself some of the good and the beautiful that is provided for us here.

Heart and Home Problems

BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Sentinel Crane was talking about an opponent of arbitration. "The man is not a liberal," he said. "He takes a narrow, selfish view of things. He is not well informed either. The fact is, he reminds me, in his narrowness and ignorance, of the editor of the Cincinnati Scholastic."

"The editor of the Cincinnati Scholastic, reading the copy of a cub reporter from Yale, came to the sentence: "Cheer not merely not opportunity; he created it."

"The editor looked up from this sentence and said reproachfully: "Look here. What do you want to advertise Caesar for?"

"The latest product of our complex civilization is the daytime sleep-walker," said a hotel clerk. "The New York habit of turning night into day and vice versa is responsible for him. He is particularly likely to haunt hotels and looking houses. Night-bowlers with somnambulant tendencies are frequently numbered among our guests, and made and porters now add to their regular duties a vigilant patrol of halls and corridors which the daytime sleep-walker would be most likely to choose for promenade. Nobody seems to know just what to do with a person whose daylight slumbers send him straggling about the hotel in a state of subconscious activity."

"There are prescribed rules for the treatment of a nocturnal somnambulist. Speak to him softly, touch him gently, lead him back to his room, just so. In the case of a midnight sleep-walker that usually works, but just try it on a man parading around in broad daylight and see what happens. Daytime somnambulists seem usually high-strung and no matter how gentle the attack most of them have to be escorted back to their rooms in a hysterical condition."

"It's quite a heavy shower we're having," he said, cheerily, to the man who had entered with his clothes soaked and his umbrella dripping.

"Yes, sir," replied the stranger, testily. "It is a heavy shower; but you have failed to remark also the interesting facts that the shower is falling downward from above, that it's a wet shower, and that it is raining."

on both sides of the street. Also you have neglected to observe that this is the year 1912, that the earth is round, and that there are four seasons each year. But I'm obliged to you for your information about the weather."

And the stranger walked away with a glitter of vindictive triumph in his eye.

John D. Crimmins was talking at Palm Beach, apropos of a political squabble about motives.

"Motives are strange things," he said. "Never judge an action without first understanding its motive. Then you won't go wrong."

"Apropos of queer motives," Mr. Crimmins continued, "I'll tell you about a duke. This duke went to a musical comedy one evening, admired the leading lady very much and sent her, by his valet, a bouquet."

"About a month later as the duke was lurching a lady was announced. The duke rose and entered an ante-room and found to his surprise the beautiful young actress of the musical comedy of the month before."

"Oh, your grace," she said, blushing, "I have come to thank you for all your beautiful bouquets."

"But, madame, said the duke, 'I think you are mistaken. I only sent you one bouquet—and that was a long time ago.'"

"But your valet—every evening," she stammered, "has brought me a bouquet from you!"

"The duke went for his valet and the valet admitted that what the actress said was true."

"Now, do you think," said Mr. Crimmins, "that it was love which was the motive of the valet's strange conduct? Oh, no; it was not love. The valet confessed it was a sentiment less noble than love. The mighty bouquet, it seems, only cost the valet fifty cents, and the flattered actress gave him every evening a $2 tip."

ARE you awfully tired with play, like a girl? Worry, discouraged and sick?

I'll tell you the loveliest game in the world. Do something for somebody quick.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

A delicious and simple dessert when one is hurried is to prepare a rich biscuit dough cut in strips the size of the little finger, place in a buttered pan, sprinkle with nutmeg, add three tablespoonsful of butter and a cup of maple syrup, bake in a moderate oven, and when half done add boiling water to make a thick sauce and finish baking. To be eaten hot with cream. You will surely want more.

Plain vanilla ice cream becomes a fancy dish by serving it in sherbet cups, sprinkle generously with chopped pecan meats and pour over hot maple syrup.

Maple Cream of Wheat.—To prepare the maple cream, add a cupful of thick cream and a half cup of maple syrup and whip until stiff.

To prepare the wheat, clean and wash a cup of whole wheat, right from the farm; soak over night, and cook five or six hours in a fireless or double boiler until tender. Salt while cooking. Now to the cream prepared as above, add two cups of nicely cooked wheat; after it has cooled beat together and serve with apple jelly.

Frozen Fruit Cream.—Take a pint of cream and a cup of milk, a cup of maple syrup and half a cupful each of chopped figs, almonds and a can of peaches. Put through a sieve, a teaspoonful each of extract of orange, vanilla and coffee. Mix well before putting into a freezer.

Maple Taffy.—To two cups of maple syrup add a cup of coconut milk. Cook until it hardens in water, then pull when cool enough.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING

Why Most Southern Corn Cakes Excel Those Made Elsewhere.

By Allen E. Whitaker.

The reason that the southern cook makes a better corn cake than any other woman can bake is because she uses plenty of shortening and eggs, especially shortening. Most of her kind are like one who belonged to days before the war, and who was never disturbed by any crowd of company that her master could bring home provided her request for "plenty o' grease" was met.

The fat used was not butter, the standby of the northern cook when doing her utmost in fine cookery, but lard made from the home grown hogs. Perhaps if it had come in little tin pulls and at present prices she would not have been allowed to use it so lavishly.

The colored cook, even of today, is apt to excel in this particular sort of hot bread and to know by instinct how to mix it just right, and who also makes a noticeable raid on any available fat to put with the cornmeal. More than likely she scalds the meal with enough boiling water to make it slightly moist and covers it closely until every grain is partially steamed. It is then ready for the other ingredients.

The corn cake of the average cook depends on sugar for sweetness, but on the natural sweetness of the cereal and the cake is apt to be dry from using too much baking powder and too little fat.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

IT is only now and then that a man learns something, but he forgets the whole day long. Our memory is like a sieve that with time and use holds less and less.

—Schopenhauer.

How long is it since you have "visited school?" I have always believed that it is every mother's business duty to visit, at least once a term, the school where her children are spending almost half their waking hours. Lately I have been convinced that it would be a mighty good thing if others besides mothers "visited school" once in a while.

For what purpose, you ask? Well, partly for the pleasure of the memories and associations which such an experiment would arouse. But more for the interesting and instructive purpose of discovering how little we really know after all, how much more than we, even the little pig-tailed and freckled-faced boys and girls know.

Perhaps you think I am overstating that. If you do, it is all the more reason you should accept my invitation some day. Believe me, no group of college professors will make you more aware of your colossal ignorance than a class of grammar school youngsters reciting their freshly learned lessons.

Say the class is in geography and they are going over the capitals and principal cities of the various countries. How often do you know the answer before it is given? Unless you are over fifty, and thus of the old school which really learned things like geography, you will probably be amazed to find how little you know.

Not long ago I went to an evening party where the hostess surprised us by substituting a geographical game for the conventional entertainment. There were half a dozen questions to answer, such as the capitals of all the countries, questions which should have been comparatively simple to all of us, but I assure you there was no trouble in selecting the prize-winner. He was a man considerably over sixty who had learned those things in the good old fashioned way. The only difficulty was to decide among the candidates for the consolation prize.

Suppose the lesson is in history, and the dates of some of the big events in our history are called for, will you be any better off than you were in the geography class?

Or suppose this class in spelling holds the floor, do you think you would stand at the head of the class if you entered into competition with the youngsters?

It is only now and then that a man learns something, but he forgets the whole day long. How much we have forgotten, and how very little we really know, after all. Truly it is a most humbling and instructive lesson which the little scholars will turn teacher to teach us!

Don't think this is all just talk, but some day when you have a chance, try "visiting school." I am sure you'll learn quite as much as the scholars, and your lesson will be about that most important of all subjects—yourself.

result from this rule. Pour one cup of hot milk on two cups of corn meal, add one-quarter cup of butter, stir and let stand fifteen minutes. Beat three eggs, add one cup of milk and a pinch of salt.

Combine both mixtures, beat light and add one cup of flour in which have been sifted four level teaspoons of baking powder. Mix hot buttered toast or corn pone two-thirds full and bake in a hot oven.

A good steamed bread is made with corn meal and white-flour only. Sift together three cups of the corn meal one cup of flour and a level teaspoon of salt. Add two cups of sweet milk and one cup of molasses and beat. Now add one cup of sour milk in which a level teaspoon of soda is dissolved and beat until smooth. Steam three hours or place in the fireless cooker five hours.

"To illustrate, we will say that one pays thirty cents a pound for coffee. When the crop is short, she does not get as good coffee as when there is a plentiful crop. When the crop is short, the grocer of necessity must supply a lower grade. It is, therefore, only natural that complaints being purely the result of inferior drinking quality."

STRONG ADDRESS IS GIVEN BY FR. DUNNE

EAU CLAIRE PASTOR SPOKE AT ST. MARY'S HALL UNDER AUSPICES OF K. C. LODGE.

ON THE AVERAGE MAN

Virtues and Faults Which Characterize That Individual Analyzed in Most Effective Manner.

Father A. B. C. Dunne of Eau Claire gave an address of rare power and remarkable insight at St. Mary's hall under the auspices of the local lodge, Knights of Columbus, last evening. With "The Average Man" as his subject and with a wealth of fine language and beautiful simile and story at his command the speaker made plain the characteristics, faults and virtues of that individual in a masterful manner.

Father Dunne found the average man to be the most important person in existence. He is too little known, however, even by his own neighbor and nearest friend, and it was with the thought that the study of this individual was the important of all the sciences, that he revealed some of the natural qualities of the average man.

In beginning his lecture, Father Dunne emphasized the point that the craving for knowledge was an innate quality in human life from its very beginning up to the day of death. And in consequence of this man has made discoveries and acquired much learning in regard to the outside things, the sciences and the forces of nature.

"But what does it all amount to," said the speaker, "when we overlook the king of the universe, man himself. In our quest for knowledge we admire many of the outside beauties, but what do you think of man? You simply know your neighbor from the exterior; you are unacquainted with his subtle qualities, the great heart-beats of the human soul."

It is hard to get this information about the greatest study on earth, about man himself. But the speaker stated he would point out some of the characteristics of the average man in an effort to make clearer his greatness and his power.

In the first place, he said, the average man wants to be a millionaire. Far from recognizing this impelling desire Father Dunne affirmed that it was a splendid thing calling out the best energies that are in him. He dwelt, however, on the good and bad uses which may be made of hoards of wealth, of the decline which marks the life of the decares worshipper and the misers; how these latter persons become cold, unresponsive to the better things, cold and dead to the best interests of humanity. To this sort of person he contrasted the man who used his money in the best manner, and also the average man, not wealthy, but with a natural craving for wealth.

Then he showed some of the blessings of this average man. Priceless treasures which wealth cannot buy, gifts of the great Father which no amount of this world's goods can secure. Even the millionaires are the veritable sorts of the average man, said the speaker. They toil and struggle in a thousand ways to serve him, be it the street car magnate, the coal operators or the public utility plutocrats, all alike bow down before the average man to do his bidding. The gifts of wealth are not always appreciated but they are among our richest blessings.

Another characteristic of the average man is his desire for nobility. And this leads to a disregard for the nobility of toil, a tendency to hold himself aloof in ill-repute bordering on disgrace. But the example of the simple Nazarine need only be recalled to teach the real nobility of honest work.

Much emphasis should be placed on the beauty and happiness of the home life which the lecturer compared to a threefold partnership between man, woman and God. It is a sacred and beautiful relation not to be violated needlessly and lightly. He plead for the strictest observance of the marriage vows and urged for an adherence to their sanctity as taught by the Catholic church. Divorce was the recognition of failure in life, a porphyry to God and to the man and wife. The gift of love was not to be squandered and its great meaning should be cherished and treasured in every human heart.

As a final characteristic, Father Dunne said the average man was instinctively religious. He looked about him and saw the sublime order and awful magnitude of creation and he bowed in worship to the God of all. That indifference creeping in leads to a disregard and irreverence for the spiritual and the average man comes to think that he has no need for any guiding hand from above. How men brought back to the realization of their own dependence and the might of God was recounted in several stories of beautiful lessons. And so the average man comes to have a reverent and religious attitude. In closing the speaker pointed out that these were some of the qualities of the average man whose power was sublime and whose inevitable greatness was undeniable.

Thibetan Test of Character.

The Thibetans have some strange tests for ascertaining the character of a man. One is by means of a hole in a block of granite, through which the individual has to crawl. TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES.

Professor West of the Janesville high school, gave us a very instructive and entertaining talk Monday morning on the Montessori method of teaching little children.

Supt. C. P. Cary gave our students many good suggestions in his address last week.

An excellent photograph of the graduating class has been secured and this is being used to make a cut for our catalogue.

The class in Library Methods is busy cataloging our library.

Mr. Lowth is receding inquiries relative to next year's work, and the prospects for a full enrollment are good.

The literary society plans to give four more good programs this year.

The seniors are now engaged in preparing their final essays upon various professional subjects.

The agricultural class will soon go to witness the workings of the Babcock milk tester, and the cream separator. Farm implement stores will also be visited. This work in this class is made as practical as possible.

"The Story of Bread" a booklet issued by The International Harvester company has been found of interest in our reading class.

The senior class are already beginning to make arrangements for securing their commencement invitations. Commencement day is approaching rapidly.

Our three daily papers have been used very much the past week and more in keeping posted on the current events of the world.

Practice on our Opelette is progressing quite well in view of our many other duties.

Final examinations in methods and in the common school mental, will take place this week.

The training school rooms were recently inspected by two visitors from out of town.

Our potted flowering plants add much to the appearance of our rooms.

Both of our training school instructors gave talks at Milton on Saturday. Mrs. Lowth on reading, and Miss Jacobson on spelling. We expect to

CHILD'S HEAD SOLID MASS OF HUMOR

It Was Awful, Cried Continually. Had to Hold and Watch Him to Keep Him from Scratching. Suffering Was Dreadful.

Had not Used Half a Set of Cuticura Remedies Before Head Was Clear and Free from Eczema.

"I think the Cuticura Remedies are the best remedies for eczema I have ever heard of. My mother had a child who had a rash on its head when it was just young. Doctor called it baby rash. He gave us medicine, but it did no good. In a few days the head was a solid mass, a running sore. It was awful, the child cried continually. We kept him from scratching him (I kept him from scratching the sore). His suffering was dreadful. At last we remembered Cuticura Remedies. We got a dollar bottle of Cuticura. Result, a box of Cuticura Ointment, and a jar of Cuticura Soap. We gave the Resultant as directed, washed the head with the Cuticura Soap, and applied the Cuticura Ointment. We had not used half a set of Cuticura Remedies, but clear and free from eczema, and it has never come back again. The head was healthy and he had a beautiful head of hair. I think the Cuticura Ointment very good for the hair. It makes the hair grow and prevents falling hair." (Signed) Mrs. Francis Lund, Plain City, Ohio, Sept. 19, 1910.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are for sale throughout the world, but to those who have suffered much, best hope and are without faith in any treatment, a liberal sample of each with 32-p. booklet on the skin will be mailed free, on application. Address: Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 129, Boston.
